"Lady Cabstanleigh"

BY THE WAY.

An Unpublishable Extract.

Lady Cabstanleigh, indefatigable as ever, is arranging a charity pageant and ball in aid of hospital work. The pageant will be called: "The Cold In The Head Through The Ages," and will represent the men and women of every period, with colds in their heads. An amusing speech is to be spoken by Queen Boadicea, through the nose, describing what the "Robads" did to her, and there will be a disgustingly large number of tableaux. A crowd of Society children have been asked to act the part of germs. They will mingle with the other figures in the pageant, in order to prick people's noses with little wooden spears—an action which is symbolic of the catching of a cold.

On the stroke of midnight, the Demon Cold will come down from the ceiling in a balloon, and will dash round the hall sneezing violently, until Jack the Cold Killer, disguised as a venerable old general practitioner, leaps upon him and sprays him with medicine. The Demon turns green, sinks to the floor, and, with a curse against all doctors, dies.

Uneatable sandwiches and grocers' sherry will be served in an ante-room. Ticket by admission.

THE MIDDLESEX CANCER HOSPITAL

QUEEN MARY WARD

The Middlesex Hospital Cancer Wing

FOUNDED 1792

THE MIDDLESEX HOSPITAL CANCER WING was instituted in the year 1792, when a ward of 12 beds was set aside for the treatment of patients suffering from cancer. During the nineteenth century the number of beds was gradually increased, and in the year 1899 the existing buildings in Nassau Street were erected, containing four wards and fifty beds.

In 1912 the Barnato-Joel Charity was built and endowed, thus adding to the Cancer Wing two wards of 20 beds each for operable Cancer cases, an Out-Patient Department and a complete block of Research Laboratories.

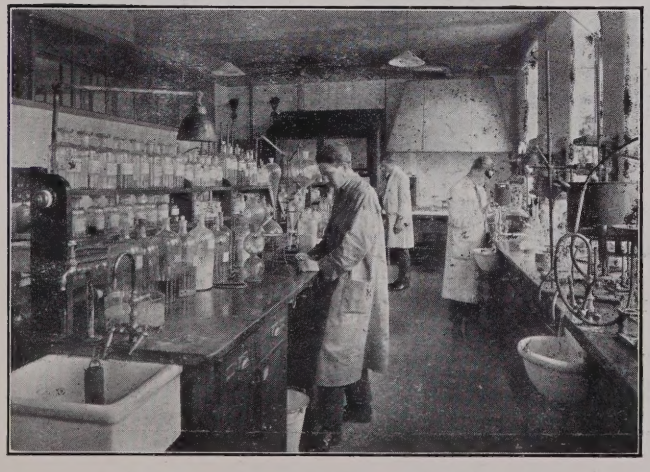
During recent years much time has been devoted to research in radiological treatment of Cancer, and, as a result of the progress made and the results achieved, it was decided two years ago to set aside 24 beds, which had hitherto been devoted to incurable cases, to this form of treatment.

This progressive step, which is being followed by other Hospitals, has made possible the treatment of a much larger number of patients annually than the Hospital was able to undertake when so many of its beds were devoted to incurable cases, and the number of In-Patients treated has increased from 564 in 1927 to 870 in 1929.

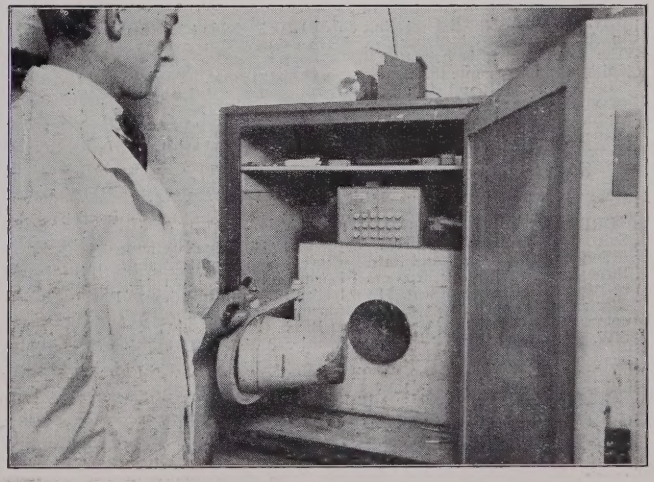
As will be readily understood, the cost of treatment of this nature is necessarily high, and the annual expenditure of the Cancer Wing is some £25,000. Of this, £10,000 is fortunately covered by income from Endowments ; but the balance, £15,000, has to be raised each year by voluntary gifts and the contributions of the patients.

From this it will be seen how urgent is the need of more regular annual subscriptions. If all who read this would each of them induce one friend to become a subscriber, a great addition to our funds would be made.

The whole of the proceeds of this annual Smoker go to support this work, and the Board desire to take this opportunity of offering an expression of their deep appreciation to all, Artistes, Secretaries and Audience, who make it, year by year, such a success.



ONE OF THE MANY RESEARCH LABORATORIES



TON BLOCK OF LEAD in the centre of which Radium is stored, thus securing safety against the very harmful effect of its rays in the absence of due precaution. Radium is one of the modern methods of treatment for Cancer.
